Odawara Castle

Explanation of Tourist Attraction

Known as the bastion of the Odawara's Hojo clan, who claimed most of Kantō as their demesne during the Sengoku era, Odawara Castle continued to flourish as a critical military citadel beyond even the Edo era and is considered one of Japan's 100 most famous castles. The inner bailey contains a donjon and is home to Odawara Castle Park which is popular for its plum blossoms, cherry blossoms, wisteria, hydrangeas, Japanese iris, and other seasonal flowers.
