Sarushima

The only uninhabited island in Tokyo Bay rich in nature

Sarushima, which used to be off-limits to the general public, is still rich in nature and historical structures. Although only an hour away from central Tokyo, the island offers a view of nature entirely different from that of the city. At night, when the island is deserted, enjoy a customizable program tailored to your tastes.

Exclusive Programs

Private nighttime experience on an uninhabited island

Special Program 1

Sarushima, which has fantastic views all through the day, is specially lit up at night for your private guided tour. Sitting around a bonfire on the beach, with a night view of the city beyond the sea, is also amazing. The island is also available for private use in the early morning.

Special Program 2

Let's set up your own restaurant on the beach. Enjoy food made with local ingredients and relax to the sound of the waves.
