

岡田美術館 OKADA MUSEUM OF ART

Hakone's treasure trove of Asian art

Built on the grounds of a grand Meiji-era hotel for upper class western tourists, the Okada Museum of Art has a wonderful collection of Japanese, Korean and Chinese art. There are roughly 450 important artworks – dating from antiquity up to the modern era – housed in this ultra-modern five-storey building.

While the museum is perhaps best known for its ancient Chinese bronzes, and porcelain from the Ming and Tang dynasties, the giant mural which decorates the entrance, depicting Fujin and Raijin, the wind god and the thunder god, is a masterpiece of traditional Japanese art.

Exclusive special offer

After a private slide-show in the former Kaikatei hotel, you'll take an after-hours tour of the museum's most precious treasures

"The Great Wave" in the series "Thirty-Six View of Mount Fuji" by Hokusai Katsushika is not in the permanent collection – viewing not guaranteed.

Private museum tour

This private tour will last around three hours, and you will be escorted through the best that the museum has to offer – without the hassle of a crowd. These are the main features of your trip:

- A relaxing footbath on arrival
- An introductory lecture about the museum's collection in the splendid Kaikatei annex
- A tour of the gardens, with cakes to be served
- A private tour of the current special exhibition (subject to change)
- A guided, in-depth after-hours tour of the museum's most celebrated exhibits
- A gift of the hotel's own chocolates

Please note that the museum's special exhibit varies from season to season. It is also possible to pre-arrange a visit just to the Kaikatei or the museum itself. Please contact us first for more information.
